W. W. KEYS, LOCAL EDITOR.

Mr. W. W. Keys has resigned the office of Town Warden, in consequence of hav-ing removed out of the corporate limits of town. An election for his successor will be held on Monday, 29th instant.

We are requested to announce that an Educational, Missionary and Sunday School Convention of the colored Baptists will be held in St. Paul Church at this place on the 17th, 18th and 19th of December.

Married, at the residence of the bride's father, in Anderson County, on the evening of November 4th, 1880, by Rev. Hugh McLees, Mr. John Watkins and Miss Elizabeth Smith, daughter of J. M. Smith, Esq. Anderson County was well represented at the State Fair last week, as will be seen by referring to the list of premiums published elsewhere that were taken by our citizens, the whole value of which amounts to sev-al hundred dollars.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Anderson Farmers' and Mechanics' Association, will be held in the Court House this morning. A full meeting is desired, as officers for the ensuing year will be elected and other important business attended to.

Rev. Dr. Frierson is in attendance this

Rev. Dr. Frierson is in attendance this week on the annual meeting of the South Carolina Synod of the Presbyterian Church, which convened in Sunter on Thursday. In consequence of his absence, his Church on next Sunday will be closed, and the regular quarterly communion postponed until the Sunday following. The ladies of the Presbyterian Church will give a hot dinner and supper in the Masonic Hall on next Wednesday, to which the public generally are invited. Both delicacies and substantials will be had in profusion, and no effort will be spared to make it pleasant for all who attend. The object in view is a bell for their new Church.

Rev. Mr. Piltz, of Walhalla, a Lutheran minister, conducted divine service in Temperance Hall on Sunday morning last. He had a congregation of about fifty persons, nearly all of the... Germans and members of the Lutheran Church. Mr. Piltz will hereafter hold services at this place regularly on the second Sunday of each month.

Gen. W. W. Humphreys has sold the house and farm situated just south of the Carolina Collegiate Institute to Capt. Wm. Sayre, of Charleston, who proposes to settle upon it and engage in fruit growing, market gardening, &c. This will supply a want long felt in Anderson, and we hope will prove a most successful venture for Capt. Sayre..

Miss Flora Lesser, second daughter of Mr. M. Lesser, died at the residence of her father in Anderson on last Friday, after an illness of a week or ten days, in the 22nd year of her age. She was an excellent young lady, and the sympathies of a large number of friends are with the bereaved family. Her remains were carried to Columbia on Saturday, and on Sanday morning interred in the Jewish cemetery in that city.

"C.," our Fair Play correspondent, furnishes the following item: "Mr. S. S. McJunkin, who lives just above here at South Union, had his corn crib and cotton house burned on the night of the 9th instant at about 1 o'clock, with their entire contents, consisting of three or four bales of cotton, forty-five bushels of corn, seventy-five of wheat and about fifty bushels of oats. The fire was evidently the work of an incendiary."

Hon, B. F. Crayton was unanimously re-elected President of the State Agricultu-ral and Mechanical Association at the an-nual meeting of the stockholders in Columnual meeting of the stockholders in Columbia on last Thursday. For the success that has attended the exhibitions of the Association for the past few years, and for the sound financ at basis upon which it is now operating, Mr. Crayton deserves a great deal of credit. The unanimity with which he was continued as President, is evidence sufficient that his administrative ability for such business is fully appreciated.

As the up train neared Prosperity on last Friday, Gen. Humphreys, who was standing upon the plank connecting two cars, was thrown from his feet by the sudden application of the air brake, and fell between the cars with his neck and head across the track and his feet outside. Mr. King, who saw the fail, fortunately had the remarkable presence of mind to jump off and jerk the General from under the train, which he accomplished barely in time to prevent his decapitation by the wheels of the train, which was in motion. The fall stanned Gen. Humphreys, and bruised him up in such manner as to leave him very sore from it. He is, however, attending to his official duties, and his numerous friends rejoice at his deliverance from such imminent danger.

Coroner Ezell, of Spartanburg County, on the 9th instant, received a letter from Professor Wm. J. Land, of Atlanta, Ga., certifying that he had made a thorough chemical analysis of the stomach of the late Capt. Thomas P. Benson, and that the examination failed to disclose the existence of any poisonous substance. The Professor adds if Captain Benson's death was caused by poison taken in the stomach, it must have been of such a subtle nature that it was destroyed by decomposition of the stomach itself, in the interval of fourteen days after death, before the stomach—then in a state of incipient decomposition—reached him. It is known to the profession that there are a few poisons (e.g. Hydrocyanic acid and its compounds) that, under the circumstances, would have been so changed as to be beyond the scope of analysis.

The gin house of Mr. Samuel L. Gray, of Centreville township, was accidentally burned on last Thursday evening a little after dark, and with it his gin, three baies of cotton and about 5,000 bushels of cotton seed. Mr. Gray was working after night in order to finish a lot of cotton, and white a colored man was holding a small hand lamp, on which there was no chimney, the lint that had collected on the side of the house caught fire and in an instant the whole r som was ablaze. It was useless to attempt to extinguish the flames, so all hands went to work and succeeded in saving the engine and several bales of cotton already ginned and packed. The entire loss

Hart County, Ga., News. The Sun.

An Anderson lady is making arrangements to put up a Ladies' Store in Hartwell. The Town Council have ceased to fine an offender less than five dollar. They have taken in about one-fourth enough money from fines during the past week to pay the Marshal's for a year.

There has been more drankenness and rowdyism in Hartwell for the last week, than we ever witnessed during the same length of time.

Died, near Andersonville, S. C., on the 4th instant, William Rush, an old soldier of 1812, aged 90 years. He could, up to the time of his death, read without glasses, and could repeat chapter after chapter of the New Testament. His funeral was attended by four maiden daughters, aged respectively 61, 62, 64, and 66, and a son 63.

61, 62, 64, and 66, and a son 68.

A short time before he died, we learn, Rev. W. L. Fore, of this county, willed his little daughter to the Baptist Female Seminary in Gainesville. Last month, at the Georgia Baptist Convention, Rev. W. C. Wilkes stated the fact, and said that she would be educated free of charge, but that money would be needed to pay her other expenses. A collection was taken up to pay her board, &c., while at school. People who feel disposed to open their hearts and make an outlay of missionary money, can never spend it in a better cause than in the education of this little orphan girl.

Henry Hill. confined in the gounty in education of this little orphan girl.

Henry Hill, confined in the county jail for larceny, burnt a hole through the overhead ceiling of his cell on Thursday night large enough to crawl through into the loft above, where he removed a few bricks from the wall of the building, but just then daylight came, and for fear of discovery he suspended operations, intending to wait until Friday night to make his escape. Mr. T. V. Skelton, the jailor, discovered his work, however, and in order to make his confinement secure beyond a doubt removed him to another cell and chained him to the floor.
